

Our Disclaimer, to all

It is always better for anyone to submit their disclaimer and policies about their blog or portal, and hence, We here as Commercial's are presenting our terms of using and applying data on this site.

We, do not suggest anyone to read pirated Ebook formats. It is upto you to read them and we're not responsible for any losses. We've taken the data from online libraries and hereby foreclose our involvement in any processes. Your Data is as valuable to us as you, and hence, we say, we do not interfere with your data. We suggest you to buy hard-copies of the books presented on this website and hence, it is a good process.

This portal is just made for educational purpose, not any data collection centre. Reading and interpretation is a valuable part of learning, and this process depends on the user only. Reading, downloading or interpretation is the responsibility of user and not the creator of this portal. Surfing on internet is like, hovering on your board out of shark's mouth. We do not take responsibility of any offence via this blog. Our purpose of presenting books for downloading is just for learning, and not of barbing any author. Everyone should buy authenticated copies and support the authors. For concluding these terms, we're not responsible for any losses made out of books...

for further details or comments, send a mail at :
tookstanmay@gmail.com